

Earn your Bachelor of Arts Degree in Global Studies

The Global Studies major is a flexible, interdisciplinary degree that familiarizes students with the complex historical and contemporary relationships and processes that link together people and places. By focusing on themes relating to globalization, the major also encourages students to recognize and to appreciate the world's diversity. The overall aim of the degree is to foster in students a critical, global outlook that will allow them to engage with pressing global questions and to thrive in an interconnected world.

Structure of the Degree

The Global Studies degree has four main components that will prepare students for careers where an understanding of urgent global issues is required, and where an ability to work with people from a variety of cultures is indispensable. These components are:

1. A focus on major global issues.
2. Deep understanding of a world region, and the cultures, social practices, and current challenges in that region.
3. Proficiency in a foreign language.
4. Integrated opportunities for study abroad.
